

Nat Ventura

navillasa@gmail.com
(404) 556-9207
Atlanta, Georgia

nat-ventura.net | linkedin.com/nat-ventura | github.com/nat-ventura | medium.com/@nat-ventura

I am a graduate full stack developer with three years of experience conducting research in new media as a Mellon Mays Undergraduate Fellow. Researching the development and history of social media interfaces motivated me to pursue full stack development and software engineering.

Education

- | | |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| DigitalCrafts | June 2017 – October 2017 |
| Immersive Coding Bootcamp | |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Sixteen-week full-time accelerated learning program.- Curriculum covers Node.js, PostgreSQL, Express, React.js, HTML5, CSS3, and Amazon Web Services. | |
| Oberlin College | August 2013 – May 2017 |
| Creative Writing, Bachelor of Arts | |

Projects

- | | |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| Airspace App - GitHub - In Progress | August 2017 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Built with Node.js, Express, WebSockets, jQuery, JavaScript, HTML/CSS.- An audience response platform that allows users to provide feedback and answer a host user's questions in real time. | |
| BioLingual App - GitHub - Demo | July 2017 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Built with JavaScript, jQuery, HTML/CSS, Adobe Illustrator.- An interactive anatomy map that translates the names of body parts and commonly associated symptoms using ApiMedic and the Google Translate API. | |

Experience

- | | |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|
| Contributing Writer at Code Like a Girl | July 2017 – Present |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Chronicles new experiences and technologies in the field of web development at medium.com/@nat_ventura.- Provides weekly updates relating to full stack development projects. | |
| Research Fellow at Oberlin College | June 2015 – May 2017 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Conducted an independent research project examining social media governance and user activism.- Tracked the circulation of police brutality videos on Facebook and Twitter as case studies using Keyhole. | |

Languages

French limited working proficiency
Spanish bilingual proficiency